Several badges involve activities for which the Boy Scouts of America has implemented strategies to improve safety, enhance the Scouts’ experiences, and manage risk. These activities often require supervision with specialized qualifications and certifications. Merit badge counselors who do not meet the specific requirements may use the services of helpers who do. Additional details can be found below, and also in the Guide to Safe Scouting and the merit badge pamphlets.

Restricted merit badges require additional documentation. These badges are explained in Chapter 7 of the Guide to Advancement. For these badges, the prospective Merit Badge Counselor must provide a copy of current certification or a letter specifying that activities for the merit badge will be conducted by a currently certified instructor as described below:

swimming or the use of watercraft must be so trained, or use helpers who are.

- All physical activities presented in any Scouting program must be conducted in accordance with the “SAFE Checklist.” These four points, embodying good judgment and common sense, can be found at www.scouting.org/health-and-safety/safe.
- CPR instruction, wherever it is required, must be taught by people currently trained as CPR instructors by a nationally certified provider, such as the American Red Cross, the Emergency Care and Safety Institute, or the American Heart Association.
